

An initiative of The Economic Times

#Auto Components » #training centre #Chennai #Bosh India #Bharath University #academia

Bosch India and Bharath University launch training centre in Chennai

Spread across 3600 sq.ft, the center will impart training in the areas of diesel systems, gasoline systems, diagnostics and auto electricals

ETAuto | 14 March 2016, 5:37 PM IST

(The image is representative)

BENGALURU: Bosch Limited, the German automaker, announced on Monday that in collaboration with Bharath University, it has launched a training center in Chennai.

The joint certification center is located inside the premises of Bharath University. The event was graced by Dr. S. Jagatrakshagan, Founder Chairman, Bharath University, Former central Minister, Dr. J. Sandeep Anand, president, Bharath University, Dr. M. Ponnaivaikko, Vice-Chancellor, Bharath University and Mr. Abhijit Kallianpur, Senior General Manager, Automotive Service Solutions Bosch Limited, India.

Spread across 3600 sq.ft, the center will impart training in the areas of diesel systems, gasoline systems, diagnostics and auto electricals among others areas. The Center has been equipped with Bosch Equipment, such as, Fuel Injection Test Bench, Auto Electrical Test Bench, Diagnostic Scanner, Bosch vehicle lift among others. The training center will provide joint certification programs to students of Bharath University, technicians and service personnel alike. On an average 100 training programs will be conducted every year.

"In the automotive aftermarket sector, Bosch is among the highest generators of employment. However, given India's insufficient labor pool there is a need to build on the country's employability level, the same has also been identified by the Government of India which has initiated the Skill India program," Vijay Pandey, regional president, Automotive Aftermarket, Bosch Limited. "To address this concern Bosch has collaborated with Bharath University in Chennai to offer quality training programs. Our joint vision is to ensure the youth of India is able to build a sustainable future."

Bosch has been providing training services to thousands of technicians, service personnel, and lately, educational institutions for over a decade. Training courses from the Group offer knowledge of the evolving technologies, and at the same time provide hands-on experience with the latest equipment.

Bosch has 15 training touch points across India and a total of 14,000 participants have been trained during the year 2015.

 Comment on this

Supported by:

ETAuto.com

Follow ETAuto

News >

Passenger Vehicle / Commercial Vehicle / Two Wheelers / Components / Automotive / Industry / Tyres / Aftermarket / Policy / Auto Technology / People Movement / New Launches / Oil & Lubes / Raw Material / Financial Results / Auto Finance

Features >

Trends / IndustrySpeak / International / Careers / Data & Analytics / Jobs / ETAuto TV / Autopreneur / Interviews / ETAuto Insights / Data / Reports

Other B2B News Sites >

Retail News / Health News / Telecom News / Energy News / IT News / Real Estate News / Brand Equity News / Technology News / Finance News